

Salaky Is Held In Jail Here Charged With The Murder of Harry Siegel

Officials Completing Investigation of Fatal Shooting Said to Have Arisen Over a 13-Year-Old Girl.

APPEARS CALM

Salaky Seems Not to Realize or Appreciate the Seriousness of the Murder Charge.

George Salaky, 31 years old, is being held in the Ulster county jail on a charge of murder, first degree. That charge was lodged against Salaky Monday afternoon when he was arraigned before Justice of the Peace, Melvin D. Schoonmaker, of the town of Wawarsing. Salaky is charged with having killed Harry Siegel, 23, of Ulster Heights over some jealousy said to have arisen over a 13-year-old girl. The girl denies that she was intimately acquainted with either of the men.

Salaky is married, was born in Brooklyn, and has lived at Ulster Heights for some time. The grand jury is now in session and in all probabilities the case will be presented to the grand jury inquest before the report is made to the court. Plans had been made for the grand jury to report Wednesday morning but today it was stated the date for reporting had postponed.

Today Sheriff Abram F. Molyneux, District Attorney C. B. Murray and Sergeant Hopkins of the State Troopers were at Ellenville and Ulster Heights completing their investigation of the shooting.

From what has been ascertained there had been trouble brewing between Salaky and Siegel for a time. The name of the young woman involved has not been made public by the officials pending a further investigation into that quarter Monday morning Salaky went to the milk drop on the Grahamsville-Ulster Heights road where neighboring farmers leave their milk which is picked up by a truck and taken to a creamery. On his way down to the milk drop he stopped at the Siegel farm and asked Harry's father to send Harry down. Harry was accompanied by his two brothers, Israel and Manny.

When they arrived at the cross roads there was some argument between Salaky and Harry and it is said that Salaky pulled a shot-gun and at very close range fired a charge of buckshot into the chest of Harry Siegel. Siegel dropped and with a flourish of his gun and a threat not to make any disturbance Salaky left the two brothers and drove toward home in his car. In starting toward home he took a side road instead of the usual main road and after driving down the road a short distance the car became mired in the mud. Salaky then took his gun and abandoned the car. He struck off through the woods toward the Greenfield road. Being familiar with the locality he quickly gained that road and after knowing his gun into a creek he continued on to Ellenville where he was observed going to the home of Sergeant Hopkins.

Apprehended in Ellenville. In the meantime the officers went to Ulster Heights and started pursuit. When the abandoned car was found the officers determined that Salaky was attempting to make a get-away by taking to the woods and a large number of officers assembled and started out to comb the woods. The job was slow and it was not until after Salaky had been apprehended in Ellenville by Officers Groppe and Freer and word conveyed back to Ulster Heights that the posse learned of the arrest and abandoned the search.

When it was learned that Salaky had been seen in Ellenville and the officers learned he was the man wanted for the shooting at Ulster Heights, about eight miles from Ellenville, they sought him out and placed him under arrest. He was taken to the office of District Attorney C. B. Murray in Ellenville and word was sent out to Mr. Murray, who had joined the searching party at Ulster Heights, that Salaky was already under arrest.

Prior to having been arrested Salaky had gone to the home of Sergeant Hopkins in Ellenville to give himself up and when he found the officers waiting he remained there for a time waiting in the car of the sergeant.

Salaky appears to be calm and seems not to realize or appreciate the seriousness of the charge. While he gave the appearance of being somewhat dull when he was being booked at the county jail, he still has complete comprehension of what he has done. When being fingerprinted he was more interested in the perfect prints which were being made than in the seriousness of his act and frequently commented on the fact that the fingerprints were so near perfect.

An autopsy was performed by Dr. J. S. Taylor of the Kingston laboratory and Dr. G. F. Harker of Kerhonkson. The autopsy was made at the underground parking of Officer H. B. Humiston at Kerhonkson where the body was taken after the shooting.

Minimum Wage Law Goes to Supreme Court

Washington, March 17 (AP)—New York state officials today asked the Supreme Court for a speedy ruling on constitutionality of the state's 1933 minimum wage law for women and minors which was held unconstitutional by the New York Court of Appeals March 6.

John J. Bennett, Jr., New York attorney general, told the highest court that "no constitutional rights exist to cheat and exploit another by reason of a more potent economic position."

He added the New York law was "for the promotion of public welfare and protection of women from oppressive wages and exploitation."

Bennett told the Supreme Court that the 1933 New York law had been held invalid by the highest state court because of a Supreme Court ruling which held a 1918 minimum wage law of the District of Columbia unconstitutional.

Officers Elected By Junior Chamber Of Commerce Here

A meeting of men interested in the formation of a Junior Chamber of Commerce in Kingston was held at the Governor Clinton Hotel Monday night for the purpose of completing the work of organization. Over 30 men were present.

Harry G. LaMothe, who has taken an active interest in the organization of this new business group, which is composed of men not over 35 years of age, called the meeting to order. He stated that since the last meeting Rotary and Kiwanis had endorsed the movement 100 per cent and the mayor had also given his approval.

The early part of the meeting was taken up with a discussion as to what to name the organization. Mr. LaMothe having stated that he understood there had been some objection to using the name Chamber of Commerce in the title because of some unfortunate experiences on the part of Chambers of Commerce in Kingston in the past. A vote was taken and no opposition developed to retaining the name originally suggested, Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The report of the nominating committee, named at a previous meeting, was read by Charles Ashler, chairman. The following officers being proposed and later unanimously elected:

Henry G. LaMothe, president. William Hardenbergh, 1st vice-president.

Bernard A. Feeney, 2nd vice-president. Stanworth C. Hancock, secretary.

Harold V. Clayton, treasurer. N. Jansen Fowler, counsel.

After some discussion it was decided to have ten directors, three to be elected for one year, three for two years and four for three years and the following were elected:

One year—Robert H. Herzog, George R. Castetter, Arthur Kaplan. Two years—Richard R. Shultz, Eugene Hotchkiss, Jacob H. Tremper.

Three years—William M. Fuller, Edwin J. O'Reilly, Raymond Garrahan, Vincent A. Gorman, Jr.

It is understood that present terms of officers will expire June 1, which is the beginning of the fiscal year; also that terms of one year directors will expire at that time.

It was voted to affiliate with National and State Junior Chambers of Commerce. Dues for the local organization were placed at $5 a year, those joining now pay $3, which carries them up to June, 1937.

Among those taking a prominent part in the discussion of the evening was Eugene Hotchkiss, a former member of the Troy Junior Chamber of Commerce, who told something about the operation of that organization as he had been familiar with it.

President LaMothe stated that during the evening that already they had a list of 40 or more men who had indicated their intention to join the new organization.

Committee Named. An announcement was made this morning of two of the most important committees of the newly organized Junior Chamber of Commerce, according to Harry LaMothe, president of the Kingston organization.

Two committees include the Constitution and By-Laws Committee with N. Jansen Fowler serving in the capacity of chairman. Others on this committee include Matthew V. Cahill, William Merrill, John McCall, and William Kelly.

The Membership Committee will be headed by Albert Flanagan and assisting Mr. Flanagan will be Har-

As the result of the public hearing held Monday evening in the city hall, Mayor C. J. Heiseleman left this morning for Albany for the purpose of presenting to the Public Service Commission a plan for the elimination of the Broadway crossing as proposed by business men of the central business section of the city. The plan calls for the construction of a 50-foot wide roadway on the north side of Broadway between the Kingston Trust Company building and the O'Reilly building and then curving to the left around and under the railroad tracks emerging at Thomas street, between the bus terminal and the F. B. Matthews & Company warehouse.

If this plan is not acceptable the mayor will submit as an alternative plan the so-called Canfield plan which calls for the depressing of Broadway and also the widening of the street by acquiring an additional 28 feet of land on the south side of Broadway. This plan, as it would require the condemnation of the buildings on the south side of Broadway would prove a more expensive plan than the one the railroad has submitted, and which has proven objectionable to the city.

The third plan, known as the Halinan plan which calls for taking tracks out of Pine Grove avenue and thence under the railroad tracks to Wilbur and Greenkill avenue, allowing it to flow up through Wall and Fair streets, is out of the picture, and will not be presented to the Public Service Commission as it was objected to by all who spoke at the public hearing last evening.

Mayor Heiseleman was accompanied to Albany by Corporation Counsel John M. Casbin, City Engineer James Norton and Superintendent David Conway of the Board of Public Works.

History of Crossing. The council chamber in the city hall was well filled with an interested audience when Mayor Heiseleman opened the public hearing Monday evening. The mayor before presenting the plans suggested outlined in brief the history of proceedings that had already been taken. He said that for some years there had been agitation for the elimination of the crossing. At one time the city had filed a petition with the Public Service Commission asking that the crossing be eliminated.

As a result of the agitation and during the Canfield administration a plan was presented. The city at first asked that the West Shore tracks be depressed but the Public Service Commission refused to grant such an order on the grounds that the cost would be prohibitive. The so-called Canfield plan for the depressing of the street was then approved, and then some one brought a taxpayer's action to prevent it being placed in operation and an injunction was granted.

There the matter rested until 1928 when the Public Service Commission granted an order calling for the elimination of the crossing by the depressing of the street. To this order the city objected and carried an appeal to the Appellate Division which affirmed the order of the Public Service Commission in 1929.

Since that year very little had happened until this year when the state government has received funds from the federal government to be used for grade crossing elimination and the railroad is now in a position to borrow its share of the cost of the work from the state.

About a month ago, the mayor said, he had received a plan from the Public Service Commission, which had been prepared by the railroad, asking the city if it approved the plan or had any alterations or suggestions to make.

"In my opinion," said Mayor Heiseleman, "if the railroad plan was carried through it would inflict a mortally wound on the city."

The mayor said he had referred the plan to the Common Council and that body had held a public hearing at which time every one who spoke at the hearing opposed the plan and none spoke in favor of it.

The aldermen later adopted a resolution condemning the plan. This resolution was presented to the Public Service Commission by the mayor at which time the mayor and others protested against the railroad plan being built.

The commission in so many words informed the mayor that if the city could find any other way of eliminating the crossing to submit it. The mayor said that he had even considered an overhead crossing for the railroad but the grade would not permit it. He said he had submitted the plan of bypassing the city with the railroad tracks but the commission did not take it seriously.

The mayor said that the city was faced with the decision as to how the crossing was to be eliminated. If some plan was not proposed there was grave danger that the commission would build the railroad plan.

Weather Bureau Puts Out New Flood Warning For Upper Hudson River

Coastal Storm Moving Up From Carolinas Scheduled to Bring "Fairly Heavy" Rain to Eastern New York.

RIVER TO RISE

Flood Level of 12 Feet at Albany Is Expected Wednesday; Ice Sheet Breaks.

Albany, N. Y., March 17 (AP)—The United States weather bureau today issued a new flood warning for the upper Hudson river, still swollen from last week's flood.

The weather bureau said a coastal storm moving up from the Carolinas would bring "fairly heavy" rain to eastern New York.

Meteorologist Gustave S. Lindgren's official bulletin said:

"The Hudson river will rise tonight at Albany and Troy, reaching crest Wednesday."

"Stage depends on the amount of rainfall tonight, but is likely to reach 12 feet (flood level) or slightly higher at Albany and about 15 feet at Troy."

The river rose to 16.65 feet at Albany last Thursday, flooding riverfront streets and the main street of Rensselaer, across the river. On the same day the river rose to 20.9 feet at Troy.

All of these readings indicate the height above mean sea level.

Rivers and creeks flowed bank full in many sections of New York state today and weather observers predicted more rain.

Gustave Lindgren, U. S. weather official at Albany, said "Conditions are favorable for moderately heavy to heavy rains in the Hudson valley and tributaries to the east."

The forecast for eastern New York was for rain, probably changing to snow tonight or Wednesday.

The Hudson river rose three feet at Albany to seven feet above normal.

Flood waters from Wappingen creek and the Susquehanna river backed into low-lying streets at Nicholas, N. Y.

Shipment of the huge glass telescope mirror was postponed at Corning by continued rains.

At Poughkeepsie a huge ice sheet blocking the Hudson began moving east toward the sea, 75 miles away. Rivermen watched for possible jams.

Chenango and Susquehanna rivers, converging in Binghamton, rose five feet in 24 hours resulting in issuing of flood warnings. The Chenango mounted three feet above flood level and the Susquehanna, a foot and a half.

Rivers Swollen. Heavy overnight rains swelled rivers in New York, Pennsylvania and New England today, bringing threats of recurrence of the disastrous floods of last week.

Weather observers at Pittsburgh predicted the worst flood in 12 years where the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers join to form the Ohio. A heavy snowfall fed the torrents.

The Susquehanna river at Lewisburg, Pa., was up 13 feet and rising seven inches an hour.

Although New England's principal rivers were receding, the flood alarm was sounded for the second time in a week at Montpelier, Vt., where the North Branch river backed up behind ice jams.

Maine, where the general thaw came later than in New York, feared a promised heavy rain.

3rd State in California.

Los Angeles, March 17 (AP)—A third state—pledged to support the Townsend old age pension plan—entered the California primary battle today. Representative John Steven McGovern, author of Towne send plan legislation, was named as nominal presidential candidate in the delegation list sponsored by "California democracy."

Tax Gain Up to 75 Per Cent.

New York, March 17 (AP)—New Yorkers beat the income tax deadline with $45,000,000 for Uncle Sam, according to a hasty compilation by collectors today. Returns from the three revenue districts of the metropolitan area showed final day receipts jumped from 25 per cent to as much as 75 per cent over 1935.

Flood waters rolled across southern Missouri and eastern Arkansas today as 400 families are forced to flee homes.

Waves from a storm off at Cleveland while attempting a record smashing transcontinental flight through the atmosphere, were being seen today.

John A. Campbell, a Canadian, was seen flying over the Hudson river.

Von Ribbentrop Ready To Represent Germany At London Conference

Great Britain Almost in Deadlock With France, Which Held Out for Sanctions Against Nazis; Proposed Reinforcements.

TWO POINTS

British Memorandum Unofficially Said to Contain Two Points with Sanctions Outlined.

By CHARLES P. NUTTER

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press) London, March 17.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler today accepted an invitation by the League of Nations council to discuss the international crisis brought about by his placing an army back in the Rhineland.

The league secretariat received a telegram from the German government announcing that Gen. Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Hitler's right hand diplomat, would represent Germany at the council table.

Hitler's answer to the league invitation came in the midst of a critical day.

Great Britain, which sought to study Hitler's proposals for peace, had been almost in a deadlock with France, which insisted that Germany be branded a treaty violator by the League of Nations.

Great Britain was reported, without confirmation, to have attempted to smooth over the difficulty by proposing a reinforced Locarno treaty with Germany participating under the framework of the League of Nations.

As soon as the reply was delivered the delegates, who had been standing about the halls after a secret session, returned to their chamber to resume the meeting.

The message from Berlin was the second received from Hitler today. The new word from Hitler was understood to be that he was willing to send representatives to meet with the league council Thursday provided France, Belgium and Great Britain agreed to negotiate on his proposal for a new peace structure in Europe.

The French delegates said, however, that they would not yield one step in their refusal to negotiate with Hitler or in their demand that the League of Nations condemn the German government as a treaty violator.

Separate Items. France, Belgium and Great Britain presented separate memoranda, indicating what course of action they desired. The French memorandum was understood to be a definite statement of France's position as given above.

The British memorandum was reported, without confirmation, to contain two outstanding points. Any idea of sanctions against Germany is ruled out.

Great Britain proposes a reinforced Locarno treaty with Germany participating in the pact, the pact itself to be merged with the League of Nations covenant, thereby strengthening the latter.

It was no secret that the French delegates were weary by what they described as the opportunism of British policy. They said they would never forgive Britain if she backed down on sanctions against Germany—whatever the kind—after forcing France to exert pressure on her new found friend, Italy.

Delegation Ready. Berlin, March 17 (AP)—A high foreign official gave assurance today that a German delegation was all set to leave for London, but that its departure depended on the outcome of a meeting at Locarno powers.

Germany was satisfied with the reply given by the League of Nations council to its conditions for attending the session dealing with the Reich's violation of the Locarno pact and Versailles treaty by occupation of the Rhineland.

Adolf Hitler, however, still regarded his Locarno breach and his new treaty proposals as inseparable, and desired assurance that his offer would be discussed "in due course."

The league council's note satisfied Germany's demands for full equality with other Locarno powers about the council table, but the Reich still looked to the Locarno signatories, meeting in London today, to meet its second condition.

Evidence of Germany's readiness to join the London conference was seen in the fact that Hans Heinrich Döhring, director of the Anglo-American department of the foreign office, applied for a visa to London. He has been in almost constant consultation with Hitler, Foreign Minister Konstantin Von Neurath and Joachim Von Ribbentrop for the last two weeks, and would be a member of the delegation to the council.

The German government expected a conference call from No. 10 Downing street, French government headquarters, to the British embassy in Berlin.

Completing Final Plans for Spring Display Here March 26

Partial Lockout Seen As Cause of Further Trouble in Gotham

New York, March 17 (AP)—With settlement of the building service strike halted by what union employees called a partial lockout, labor leaders moved today for a "general stoppage of all organized labor in the city."

"This is no longer a building service strike," James J. Bambrick, local president of the International Building Service Union, told 35 labor leaders representing 300,000 workers.

The meeting was called last night to discuss the refusal of building operators to reinstate all building union workers when the two-week walkout ended under an arbitration agreement.

"I have been given assurances that the four workers will call a two-hour stoppage," Bambrick said, "and that will be the first signal for a general stoppage of all organized labor in the city as a token of resentment that labor feels over the present situation."

Bambrick said the 35,000 fur workers had agreed that the stoppage would be called without warning.

In addition to fur workers, important unions represented at the meeting included garment workers, butchers and other food workers.

Union workers in 372 buildings, police said, found themselves locked out yesterday when they reported for work. More than 2,500 buildings were affected during the strike.

They immediately began picketing and other building employers joined them in sympathy.

Reality owners defended their interpretation of the arbitration agreement which they said permitted them to refuse to rehire strikers guilty of violence where replacement workers had been promised permanent jobs.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia who mediated the settlement was still hopeful.

"I expect the whole matter to be settled within 48 hours," he said.

Treasury Receipts.

Washington, March 17 (AP)—The position of the treasury March 14: Receipts, $24,729,411.05; expenditures, $24,252,434.61. Net balance $477,126,122.49. Customs receipts for the month, $16,575,914.96. Receipts for the fiscal year (since July 10, $2,515,454,447.73; expenditures, $4,945,245,245.47. Including $2,279,702,565.41 of emergency expenditures. Excess of expenditures $2,429,790,797.74. Gross debt, $20,501,462,255.88, a decrease of $744,114.77 under the previous day. Gold reserve, $10,379,127,215.08.

Failed to Appear.

London, March 17 (AP)—Heinrich Jacob, American tennis star, failed to appear in Mortlake police court today to answer a charge of exceeding the 20-mile speed limit on Barnes street. A constable asked and received permission to give him another summons.

221 Persons Perish.

Tientsin, China, March 17 (AP)—At least 221 persons perished tonight in a massive fire at Tientsin. Most of the victims died in a panic-stricken jump from the skyscraper, their clothes on fire, jumped into an adjacent creek and were drowned.

Plans were formulated at a meeting of the Kingston Merchants' Association held this morning at the Flanagan store on Wall street for a revival of the Spring Display, which for several years was one of the biggest features of the spring season in Kingston.

Plans were made by some 36 of Kingston's progressive merchants to hold the Spring Display on Thursday evening, March 26, with a display of spring merchandise which will be well worth while.

On March 26, at 7:30 o'clock, the windows will be unveiled and there will be presented to Kingstonians and residents of Ulster county all that is new and up to the minute in spring merchandise.

Arrangements for the big evening will be completed in a day or two and it is expected that there will be a band on hand to add to the festive cooperation of the Automobile Dealers Association of Kingston will be asked for a big display of the 1936 automobiles.

Everywhere that evening there will be displays of merchandise specially prepared to give the eye a real feast. Being just a short time before Easter the clothing people will be full stride for an interesting display. Other lines of business, epic and span for the spring business, will have new lines of merchandise and everyone will vie with his neighbor to display something newer or finer.

From 1927 to 1930 these Spring Displays were held with great success. Thousands of people crowded the streets to witness the unveiling of the shop windows and the display of all that was latest in merchandise. This custom which brought thousands of people to the uptown business section is to be revived this spring with more and newer ideas to entertain the public.

For the evening, the uptown streets will be reserved for people intent on witnessing the Spring Display. Police arrangements will be made to detour traffic off the upper end of Wall street and North Front street during the time the windows are illuminated and on display.

A Spring Display and a pre-Easter display of the country's finest will be in store for the public when the Kingston merchants drop the curtains and reveal to the public their wares on Thursday, March 26, at 7:30 o'clock.

FIRE DESTROYS SHRINE OF LITTLE FLOWER TODAY

Royal Oak, Mich., March 17 (AP)—Fire destroyed Father Charles J. Coughlin's original Shrine of the Little Flower, a modest frame structure, today. The imposing, new half-million-dollar shrine, as yet incomplete, was not damaged.

Father Coughlin, at the fire himself, estimated the loss at $50,000. He and others were agreed that faulty wiring was the cause.

Two Royal Oak fire companies, given assistance from neighboring Birmingham, brought the fire under control but it before it got high flames had threatened to spread to the nearby shrine from which Father Coughlin makes his weekly radio broadcasts.

CAPITAL NEWS

HOLLISTER STURGES, Jr.

Albany, March 17 (Special).—A second attempt this year to override the governor's veto occurred last night as John J. McNaboe, New York Democrat, attempted to lift two measures dealing with banking restrictions over Governor Lehman's executive power of the veto.

These measures, to break the monopoly of federal receiverships in bankruptcy, dealing directly with the Irving Trust Co., one of New York's largest and oldest banking firms, have been repeatedly passed during the last four years with majorities approaching unanimous favor of both senators and assemblymen.

After McNaboe had debated for more than an hour the test vote was made, only to find that with three exceptions the Democratic majority in the upper house stood firmly behind their titular head, the governor. Senator George R. Fearon, of Syracuse and minority whip on the floor, used this occasion to place the Democrats, who had voted so many times for this measure as being inconsistent and insisted they were forgetting their rights, opinions and beliefs to another branch of the government—the executive—and charged they were "supinely surrendering."

Even McNaboe, known throughout the state for his efforts to submerge the growth of communism in state and nation, appeared to be placing members of his own party as well as the governor "on the spot," although in debate he denied doing this. He further denied that there was any element of politics either in the bills or in his remarks.

Where the political issue crept in, however, was when the majority leader John J. Dunnigan, of New York city, asked the Senate president, Lieutenant Governor M. William Bray, to explain the significance of voting to override the chief executive's veto. In an embarrassing and faltering way the presiding officer pointed out only that the Senate was about to vote on overriding the veto. McNaboe reminded the chamber that Congress had overridden President Roosevelt's veto power when it repassed the bill providing for the veterans' bonus.

Last week Assemblyman Harold P. Herman, Nassau county Republican, attempted to challenge the governor in an effort to supersede the veto power without success.

Most Republicans, with the exception of Thomas C. Desmond, of Newburgh, supported the effort of appeal while Democrats except McNaboe, N. A. O'Brien, of Rochester, and Stephen A. Wolkolok, of Buffalo, reversed their votes of the past four years and supported Governor Lehman.

On the first slow roll call several senators left the chamber and "took a walk," a familiar trick when they do not wish to be recorded in favor or opposed to a particular measure.

When Senator O'Brien failed to return promptly to the chamber Fearon, suggested that the bill be put over until today, but Dunnigan refused. He finally returned and was forced to vote. He was officially recorded, therefore, in the affirmative.

With a stunning statement from Senator Fearon on the governor and the budget program for the coming fiscal year there was evidenced last evening that the deadlock between the two parties was sealed with even greater firmness than before.

Developments that had been prepared over the week-end popped in rapid succession as another week opened with no further sign of recess than when the political cloud was temporarily lifted at the close of last week.

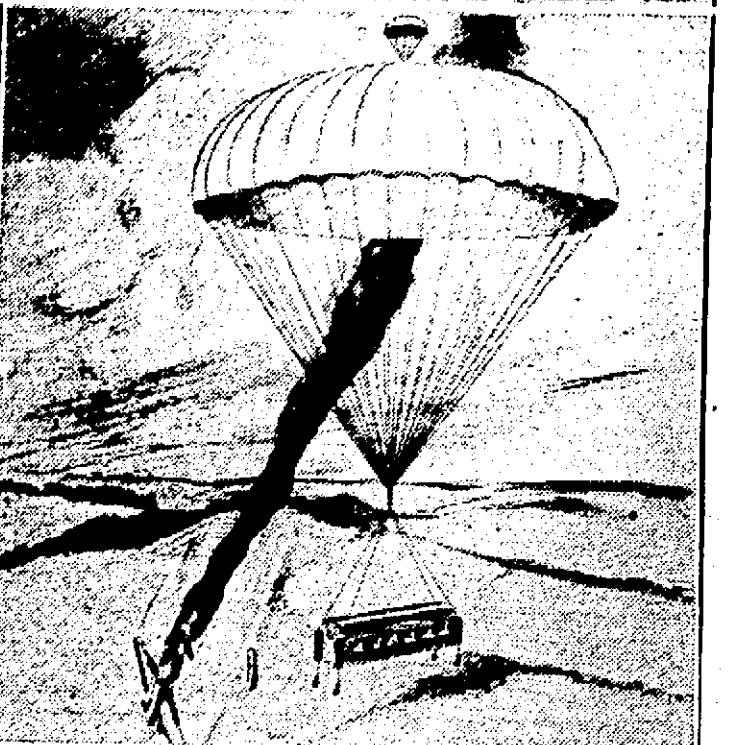

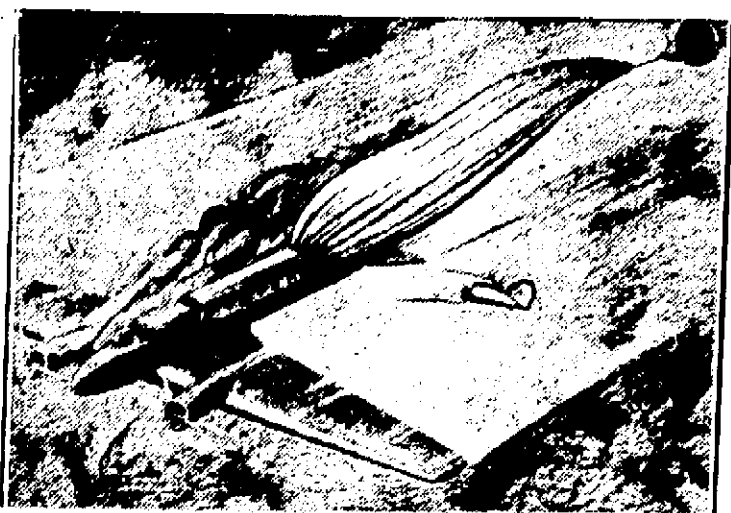

First, Fearon's statement criticized Governor Lehman for his message to the legislature on March 6, condemning the Assembly for cutting the budget $11,160,010, due in April 1937 for debt service, and accuse him of doing virtually the same thing two years ago and is now only appropriating money to pay the interest on that debt or post-pone it.

Rejecting the governor's statement that the state's credit would be seriously hurt if this $11,000,000 debt is put off for several months, Fearon charged that "the one thing more than anything else which will eventually affect the credit of the state is the 'high financing' which the governor and the comptroller have practiced the last four years with respect to unbalanced budgets and a floating debt of $200,000,000."

"This state has been and is now being run on borrowed money," continued Fearon. "to an extent which is shocking to those who know the facts."

In the Assembly chamber Majority Leader Oswald D. Heck, of Schenectady, moved a privilege resolution asking the comptroller, Morris S. Tremaine, to supply that body with certain fiscal data. It evoked nearly two hours of debate between the introducer, Minority Leader Irwin Steingut of Brooklyn and W. Allan Newell of Westchester county.

GIANT 'CHUTE FOR CABIN PLANES

Much of the discussion was based on the Fearon statement, while Steingut made a creditable defense of Lehman and his executive budget. The public hearing today will be backed with rival spokesmen of the two political camps on Capitol Hill. The Democrats will have their bank- friends to denounce the G. O. P.

action of putting off certain state debts, while the Republicans have mustered support for their activities in slashing one-cent off the gas tax. Several spokesmen of the Republican party have asserted that at least another month must pass before the final gavel falls on the 1936 state legislative session.

At a meeting of the state liquor board, February 6, there was adopted a resolution to prevent the issuance of summer licenses for places that were not licensed last year. Therefore the Ulster County Beverage Control Board cannot accept any applications from new places for summer licenses. The resolution follows:

"Resolved, that for the purpose of carrying out the policy and the purpose of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law, as expressed in Section 2 of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law, the State Liquor Authority hereby declares that applications for summer licenses will be restricted to such premises for which a summer license was granted during the year 1935."

400 Tydol Dealers At Golden Rule Inn

Combining business with hilarity, over 400 dealers, prospects and consumers were guests Monday evening at Golden Rule Inn of the Tide Water Oil Co., at the 1936 regional meeting arranged by A. C. Hartshorn, district manager. Guests were present from Kingston, Newburgh, Middletown, Catskill and the Delhi areas.

The speakers of the evening were Ralph Domjan, Tydol engineer, of New York city, and E. F. McCabe, New York state department manager, of Albany.

Mr. Domjan impressed the service dealers with the importance of understanding the new high-compression motors so popular today and the relation of fuel and oil in combating the ravages of the extra heat generated in the cylinders. Mr. Domjan's talk was highly instructive and gave the dealers indisputable service points to aid them in serving the public better.

Mr. McCabe announced the merchandising and advertising efforts of the company and displayed several newspaper, magazine and billboard campaigns to be released on and after March 19. The campaign, he said, had been given a trial in the Syracuse area, as well as other typical sections, in February, and they proved to be productive of healthy increases. Tide Water advertising and merchandising, Mr. McCabe said, is to be the bulwark of the national campaign, with very little radio presentations, except over scattered local stations.

Both speakers were acclaimed by the men, who thanked them for their instructive talks.

During the evening sound pictures of Admiral Byrd's second Antarctic expedition were shown. Guests were served a buffet supper following the business meeting and the party broke up merrily following a rousing New York floor show.

Each Puff Less Acid
A LIGHT SMOKE
OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

For twenty-five years the research staff of The American Tobacco Company has worked steadily to produce a measurably finer cigarette—namely, a cigarette having a minimum of volatile components, with an improved richness of taste—"A LIGHT SMOKE."

We believe that Lucky Strike Cigarettes embody a number of genuinely basic improvements, and that all these improvements combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobaccos—A Light Smoke.

Two More Plans For Broadway Crossing

plan would cost a great deal more than the plan proposed by the railroad as it called for the acquiring of property.

(Although Mayor Heiseleman did not mention it, it will be recalled that the city at the time the Canfield plan was being seriously considered purchased the row of buildings on the south side of Broadway where the Van Benschoten was station now stands, but when the building of the elimination was held up the city authorities finally decided to sell the properties which was done some years ago.)

The Hallinan Plan

Mayor Heiseleman said that when he returned from Albany the plan made by John F. Hallinan, who was city engineer during the Block administration, was recalled. This plan was found in the records in the city engineer's office.

A blue print of the proposed plan was shown the audience. It called for traffic proceeding up Broadway to turn into Pine Grove avenue and thence under the railroad tracks to Greenhill and Wilbur avenues.

If this plan was adopted it would mean that Broadway on both sides of the crossing would be barricaded.

The Canfield Plan

The second plan that had been called to the mayor's attention was the so-called Canfield plan which called for the depressing of Broadway under the tracks. This plan the city at one time had been willing to accept.

Mayor Heiseleman said that if this plan was adopted he would not want to see it placed in effect unless a street was built between Cornell and Thomas streets so that traffic could get to the railroad station.

The Canfield plan called for the acquisition of 28 feet of property on the south side of Broadway. This plan would cost a great deal more than the plan proposed by the railroad as it called for the acquiring of property.

The Third Plan

"I have still another plan," said the mayor, "which was just submitted to me this evening. This plan has been prepared by some of the business men of the central section of the city."

This plan, the mayor explained, was designed so as not to affect materially the properties on Broadway. It called for the acquiring of the buildings on Broadway lying between the Kingston Trust Company building and the O'Reilly building, and also some buildings in the rear.

These buildings were to be torn down and a 50-foot roadway built, which would curve around under the railroad tracks, emerging on Thomas street and then proceeding into Broadway.

On Thomas street the street would emerge between the present bus terminal and the F. B. Matthews & Company warehouse.

Under this plan, of course, it would be necessary to barricade Broadway on both sides of the tracks as would have to be done if the Hallinan plan were adopted, but this plan also provided for a tunnel under the tracks for pedestrians.

Favored Canfield Plan

Myron Teller said that of the three plans presented the Canfield plan appeared the more feasible.

Depress Width of Street

Bernard V. Roach suggested that a plan might be considered that called for the depression of the street from the building line to building line. If this plan was adopted both roadway and sidewalks would be depressed and the business houses would move their stores down into the cellars which could be remodeled. This plan he had seen on the other side and it had also been worked in New York.

O'Reilly Speaks

William O'Reilly, whose business house would be affected by the depressing of Broadway, called attention to the fact that the third plan suggested had not been sponsored by the Central Business Association, but by some of the business men in the central business section. He did not approve of the Hallinan plan but of the plans suggested considered that the plan would work the least hardship on the interested property owners on Broadway.

Cook Favored Plan

Attorney A. J. Cook said that the Hotel Ulster property was perhaps the most seriously affected by any of the plans, and that the plan suggested by the business men could be carried out with the minimum of cost and would leave Broadway less seriously damaged than if the Hallinan or Canfield plans were adopted.

As far as the plan suggested by Mr. Roach he believed it was worthwhile but it involved considerable cost to property owners who would have to remodel their properties. The buildings would have to be shored up and underpinned, and it should not be forgotten that all of the buildings would be on a slant.

Of the three plans suggested Mr. Cook recommended that the Business Men's plan be adopted.

John Van Benschoten also recommended that the third plan be approved.

What of The Future

Mr. Cook said that in the future there may come a time when the New York Central would decide not to operate the West Shore Railroad as an active road, but carry on most of the business on the other side of the river. If this became a fact it would mean that it might be possible in time to remove the proposed barriers on Broadway.

City Engineer Norton said that if the business men's plan was approved by the state commission that he would recommend that an emergency exit be placed in the proposed barrier on Broadway that could be used by the fire apparatus in case of necessity.

Had Favored Old Subway

Jacob Port said he had attended the meeting with the intention of suggesting that instead of eliminating the Broadway crossing by depressing the street that the old Colonial subway be used, but he would not suggest that now as the plan proposed by the business men covered that situation.

Only One Ideal Solution

Mayor Heiseleman said that the ideal solution of the entire problem would be the depressing of the railroad tracks instead of the street, but this plan was out of the question.

In reply to questions Corporation Counsel Cahill said that the city and county had suggested to the state commission a plan of depressing the railroad tracks but it had been denied by the commission on the ground that it would cost five or six million dollars.

Melville's Idea

John Melville said that he understood that the commission and railroad were considering a plan of overpassing the Foxhall avenue and other grade crossings and suggested that it might be wise to estimate the cost of constructing these overpasses and adding to it the cost of eliminating the Broadway crossing, and then comparing the total cost with the estimated cost of five or six millions if the tracks were depressed.

What City Would Do

No one else desiring to be heard Mayor Heiseleman said that he and members of the city engineering staff would go to Albany this morning and submit to the commission the third plan which had been proposed by the business men and if the commission would approve it, the city would approve it.

If the Public Service Commission did not consider that plan feasible then the city would present the Canfield plan.

As no one at the hearing favored the Hallinan plan it will not be submitted to the commission.

Mayor Heiseleman also suggested that if the commission should deem it more feasible to switch the business men's plan from the north side to the south side of Broadway that it would meet the approval of the city.

The hearing was then closed with the understanding that the mayor would go to Albany this morning and submit the plans to the commission.

Files Certificate Of Incorporation

Blue Stock Fur Ranch, Inc., of town of Woodstock has filed a certificate of incorporation with the secretary of state and the county clerk. The purpose of the corporation according to the papers filed, are to raise fur bearing animals, buy and sell and deal in furs, etc. The capital stock of the corporation is $10,000, to consist of 100 shares of a par value of $100. The principal place of business is located in town of Woodstock and the three directors are Joseph E. Weil of 425 East 86th street, Charles Gold of 12 East 97th street, New York city, and Samuel Zinovy of 2417 Avenue P. Brooklyn. Warm weather will come again, eliminating the heating plant hazard for the time being—but that doesn't mean that we are safe from fire. Each season brings its own hazards, and all are vitally important. Dry weather bakes out fields, setting the stage for disastrous grass fires—and fires of this character have, on many tragic occasions, destroyed whole communities. And dry shingles are the perfect target for a fireplace or cooking stove spark that can set a house afire in an incredibly short time.

Scully Ran Auto Up Over Wall and Lawn

David P. Scully, 35, of Pearl street, was arrested shortly after 8 o'clock Monday evening on Emerson street by the police who had received a telephone call from the occupant of 29 Emerson street that a car ran up over the wall and onto the lawn in front of the house. The police charged Scully with reckless driving.

This morning in police court Scully was represented by Attorney W. H. Grogan, and entered a plea of guilty. He was fine $10 by Judge Culliton.

Sergeant Simpson in reply to questions by the court said that Scully's arrest had followed a telephone call from Emerson street. When Officers Reylea and Bowers in a radio car responded they found the car on the lawn. It was towed to the Doc Smith Garage. Scully was unhurt and was placed under arrest. The sergeant said Scully had been drinking but was not in such an intoxicated condition as to warrant the lodging of a charge against him of operating a car while intoxicated.

Panhandlers Jailed

George McQuade, 36, of Hartford, Conn., Frank Marsh, 30, of New York city, and Fred McCabe, 54, of Poughkeepsie, were all arrested yesterday on charges of begging from door to door. This morning Judge Culliton sentenced each to 5 days in the county jail.

Harold Atkins, 24, of New Paltz, arrested on a warrant sworn out by his wife charging him with being a disorderly person, had his case held open until later.

SPRING FLOWER SHOW OPENS IN NEW YORK

New York, March 17 (AP)—Four acres of bloom gave off a heavy spring fragrance today to winter-weary visitors at the International Flower Show.

As the exhibition swung into its second day, many of the 1,500,000 blossoms arrayed in Grand Central Palace already bore prize ribbons—among them the yellow "Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt rose," which won first rank in one class.

Officials of the show said 27,000 who thronged the opening session, was the largest first day crowd in the show's 23 year old history. A 25-foot waterfall cascading into a woodland dell—the whole thing built by nurserymen—drew a record number of "oh's" and "ah's."

Listening to its artificial murmur, despite the sound of pumps nearby, seemed to take precedence over the pastime of sniffing huge red roses. J. P. Morgan, financier and flower-lover, was a leading first-day prize-winner.

TRINITY M. E. CHURCH TRUSTEES WERE ELECTED

At a meeting of the congregation of Trinity M. E. Church, Wurts street, the following trustees were elected: For one year, H. H. Fleming, David Terry, George E. Lowe; for two years, Frank W. Thompson, S. M. Watts, A. W. Tongue; for three years, Jay Terry, Monroe Burger, Wesley Gregory. George E. Lowe was elected a delegate to the annual conference to be held in Kingston beginning April 15. Wesley Gregory was elected alternate.

To Talk On Taxes

Father Divine Looked Over Sites Here

There were unverified rumors today that Father Divine, who is God incarnate to thousands of negroes, is looking over residence properties in Kingston, and that he had purchased the former Sweeney property on Chapel street in Wilbur. This property is owned by the Schryver Lumber Company and inquiry over the telephone brought out the fact that the property had not been sold and is still owned by the lumber company.

John Dellar, Rosendale, realtor, whose office has handled all of the property sales made by Father Divine in Ulster county, could not be reached on the telephone at his office this morning. His wife, however, stated that yesterday Mr. Dellar and Father Divine had been in Kingston looking over a residence property on Chapel street. She did not know whether it was the former Sweeney property or not. As far as she knew the property inspected yesterday had not been purchased.

Settlement Made In Negligence Action

Settlement was made Monday afternoon in the negligence action brought by Maude Eckhoff of Saugerties, as administratrix of the estate of George Theodore Eckhoff, against William A. Collins and another. This action grew out of the death of Mr. Eckhoff, who was fatally injured last spring when a car driven by Fred Huber of Saugerties collided with the rear of a parked truck near the Spencer gas station at Glencliff.

N. LeVan Haver appeared for plaintiff and A. J. Cook for the defendants.

Last spring Huber and Eckhoff were driving in the Huber Studebaker car toward Kingston. It was dark. A truck going north had been driven off the road and tipped over in the ditch. The driver of that machine knew another of the Collins trucks was to stop in Saugerties at a restaurant. A passing motorist was asked to notify the truck of the accident and have the driver return to aid the truck in the ditch. When the truck returned from Saugerties traveling south it was stopped by the driver about opposite the machine which was in the ditch and it was claimed that while the truck was parked in that position the Huber car came along and struck the rear of the parked truck. At the time it was alleged there were no lights on the parked truck. The Huber car was wrecked and Eckhoff was fatally injured.

The action which was settled in supreme court Monday was brought by Mrs. Eckhoff to recover for the death of Mr. Eckhoff.

Following the accident an inquest was held to determine the facts in the case and determine whether there might be criminal negligence on the part of some one involved. At that time a great amount of testimony was taken.

INDICT 3 SAUGERTIES MEN ON STILL CHARGES

New York, March 16 (Special).—Three Saugerties men were indicted in United States District Court here today by the Federal Grand Jury on charges of violations of the Internal Revenue Laws. They are James Russo, John Meyers and Vincent Caparo.

The indictment contains two counts, one alleging the operation of a 1,000-gallon unregistered still on the J. H. Hoffman Farm, Pine Grove Road, Saugerties, on March 5 and the other the possession of 9,000 gallons of mash intended for distillation.

The men will be arraigned shortly before Judge John C. Knox for pleading.

POLITICS at Random

By SYRON PRICE
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

EARLY-BIRD delegate selections for the national political conventions have developed few surprises. Roosevelt remains virtually alone in the field of Democratic candidates having visible support. Borah, Knox and Landon continue to lead the Republican procession, followed by an interesting line of dark horses.

The Democratic question now is whether any appreciable strength at all will muster behind any Democratic candidate against the President. If anything, the early primaries have encouraged the Roosevelt leaders to strengthen their predictions that the renomination will be voted almost by acclamation.

For the Republicans, the critical months will be April and May. The June 9 convention may be just around the corner before the situation is much clearer than it is today.

Presidents Hard To Beat

THE overwhelming Roosevelt trend of Democratic pre-convention politics is hardly regarded as news by those experienced politicians who know how hard it is to stop the renomination of any President.

At Democratic headquarters, the Roosevelt lopsided victory in the first Georgia counties to vote was taken as a merely confirming that Governor Talmadge will not here with his candidacy, even in his own state.

The "bandwagon" impression is further deepened by the selection of Roosevelt-instructed delegates in the New Hampshire primary, by indications that the anti Roosevelt delegate effort in Massachusetts will be dropped, and by announcements as that of Senator Tydings of Maryland, who says he will support the President although he disagrees with him about many things.

Colonel Henry Brockbridge remains entered in several primaries, but the Liberty league emphatically disavows any connection with the enterprise, and the colonel's friends are complaining of lack of cooperation from anti Roosevelt Democrats.

Landon Boom Grows

THE swift blooming Republican boom for Governor Landon makes headlines daily in many states. It is quite evident his friends are counting heavily on support from the uninstructed delegations which many of the old-line party leaders want to elect from east, west and south.

It also is apparent, however, that the supporters of Colonel Knox, who have been at work more quietly for months, believe they have cause for hope from those same uninstructed delegations. Thus a struggle of unsuspected ferocity is developing under the surface, and there is no sign it will cease before convention time. Meanwhile Senator Borah is widening the theater of his campaign against the whole uninstructed delegate bloc. He will seek strenuously to crush Colonel Knox in the Illinois primary on April 14. The state is crucial for Knox, because it is his home state.

Borah himself faces a crucial test on May 12 in the Ohio primary, where he is the only leading candidate entered, and is battling a determined old line leadership which desires to keep the delegation foot free by pledging it nominally to a favorite son.

Landon, staying out of the primaries, will face his test in the convention itself.

Hoover Talk Absent

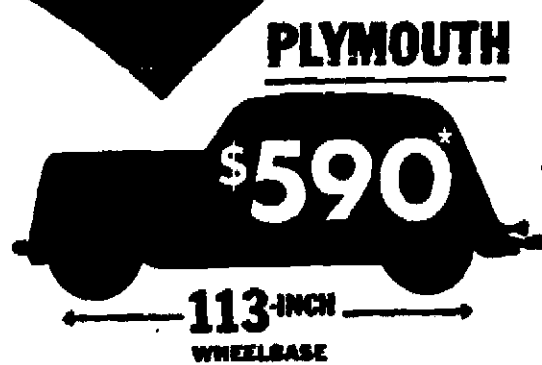

THE inevitable logic of the Republican situation is causing endless talk of dark horses.

For the moment, former President Hoover does not figure prominently in these discussions. Even in Hoover's home state of California, Governor Merriam is trying to pledge the delegation definitely to Landon.

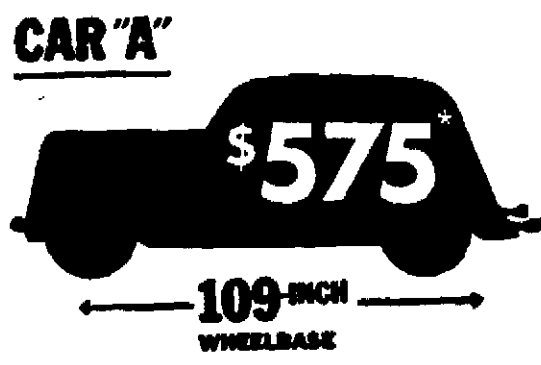

There is much talk of Senator Vandenberg, some talk of Senator Dickinson, a little talk of Senator Steiwer. But all of it, at this stage, is nothing but talk. The Republican outlook remains as confused as the Democratic outlook is clear-cut.

Landon Aides Cheered By 21 Oklahoma Votes Assured at Convention

Wichita Publisher Accuses Senator Borah of Making Baseless Insinuations Against Kansas Governor.

HITS STANDARD OIL

Borah Says His Attack Was on Standard Oil Company Relative to Delegates.

Washington, March 17 (AP)—Supporters of Alf M. Landon pressed on with their presidential drive today, elated by the knowledge that the Kansas governor is assured of the 21 votes of Oklahoma at the coming Republican national convention.

Even as the state's convention adopted the unit rule throwing its full party strength to the Kansan, his name figured in a hot intra-party dispute.

Louis Levand, publisher of the Wichita (Kans.) Beacon, charged Senator Borah of Idaho, avowed candidate for the Republican nomination, with making "baseless insinuations" against Landon.

Borah quickly denied it and told Levand "You owe Gov. Landon an apology for your blundering defense of him when no defense was called for."

The publisher's communication to Borah was based on the latter's charge that "the Standard Oil Company" was mixing in Oklahoma's Republican politics.

"By insinuation and implication," Levand said, "you have made grave charges against Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas. Your attack on the Standard Oil Company and Oklahoma oil interests only are to be construed as reflecting on the character of one of the country's outstanding Republican presidential possibilities."

Levand said Borah had injected "baseless insinuations into a situation which so far has been notable for the absence of vilification and mudslinging."

The Idahoan replied that he had made no reference "directly or indirectly to Gov. Landon."

"I denounce the Standard Oil Company for its activities in trying to secure an uninstructed delegation and for its activities in seeking to control such delegation," he said.

"Now you claim in doing this I am attacking Gov. Landon. Insofar as my charges go I am prepared to support them."

"I am not surprised to hear that Mr. W. G. Skelly of the Skelly Oil Company, affiliated with the Standard Oil group and Republican national committeeman from Oklahoma, has succeeded in delivering the Republican delegates to the national convention at Cleveland to Gov. Landon," said Fish.

To this Skelly replied: "Representative Fish's statements are not entitled to be dignified by an answer from me. I am only concerned patriotically with our American government."

Oklahoma's six delegates at large were instructed by the convention to vote and work for Landon. Six district delegates already had been instructed for Landon. Adoption of the unit rule giving the majority full sway thus assured Landon the 21 votes at Cleveland.

St. Patrick Feted in Parades Today; Dublin Is Quiet

New York, March 17 (AP)—A Wearin' of the Green, 40,000 of New York's Irish abandoned their workaday duties today for a scheduled parade on Fifth avenue in annual tribute to Erin's Patron Saint.

St. Patrick's Day claimed the official and the unofficial attention of the city.

The parade formation was headed by the 69th Regiment—the fighting Irish—followed by the board of aldermen, marching as a body for St. Patrick for the first time in 16 years.

Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr., grand marshal of the parade, unable to find a white horse, decided to lead the march on foot past the reviewing stand on the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Patrick Cardinal Hayes and Mayor F. H. LaGuardia were among the notables to take the salute.

The mayor was presented a specially grown shamrock for the occasion by Alfred Byrne, Lord Mayor of Dublin, who last year stood by the mayor's side for the parade.

Misling from the official lists was former Mayor James J. Walker who, nevertheless, was prepared to honor the day.

Walker went shopping yesterday and returned with two new suits—both made of Irish homespun tweed.

Day of Mourning.

Dublin, Irish Free State, March 17 (AP)—Ireland observed the day of St. Patrick, its patron saint, today, but in the words of one veteran, "This is more like a day of national mourning than a day of national rejoicing."

Shops were closed, the Irish flag flew over all public buildings, the people wore the shamrock and children were bedecked in Irish costumes, all gay and brave enough. But that was all.

The great processions of the past apparently were gone. There was a procession in Dublin this morning, but it was a formal affair, with scarcely a flurry of excitement. That was virtually the only public demonstration within the shores of Erin.

"Twenty-five years ago," one old resident recalled, "there were demonstrations on St. Patrick's Day which were demonstrations. All but the blind and the halt and the lame turned out with his green rosette and a bunch of shamrocks."

"It was a great day! The mayor and the town council would be with us, and we would march through the streets like we meant it, with our colors and banners flying."

"There was oratory, and fine toasts to St. Patrick and Ireland."

Now, the veteran shrugged, "since Ireland got her freedom—you can't even drink the shamrock on St. Patrick's Day. Today all the beer shops are closed and it is an offence against the law to be caught on licensed premises."

St. Pat's Agreement.

Washington, March 17 (AP)—On this St. Patrick's Day three members of the House of Representatives who are natives of the old and unanimously agreed on four propositions: Ireland is a land of many glories. There is no Irish stew in Ireland. St. Patrick actually did drive the snakes out.

Corn beef and cabbage, while fine to eat, are also not an Irish dish. The three are:

Representative Michael J. Stack (D-Pa.), who comes from County Kerry.

Representative William B. Barry (D-N.Y.), from County Mayo.

Representative John J. McGrath (D-Calif.), from County Limerick.

MRS. BLOMFIELD SPEAKERS WEDNESDAY AT ROTARY

At the Rotary meeting Wednesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel the speaker will be Mrs. Lelia M. Blomfield, a member of the staff of the New York State Economic Council.

Mrs. Blomfield was born in New Zealand but is now an American citizen and has lived in this country for a number of years.

She has been a professional lecturer and is a very successful speaker on social and economic subjects. Her addresses before men's clubs, women's clubs, service clubs and Chautauqua circuits have received general acclaim.

Her subject tomorrow will be "What the New Deal Means to New Zealand." She has recently spoken before a number of Rotary clubs in the state and she comes well recommended by these clubs.

At present, taxes take approximately 20 per cent of our national income. England, highest taxed of all countries, pays 30 per cent to the tax collector. However, the English budget is balanced and current revenue balances out. In the United States, to the contrary, we are paying but a part of the cost of government, and charging billions against the future, as our soaring national debt proves.

VATS WHERE BODIES WERE BOILED

Sheriff Jess Sweeten of Henderson county Texas, looks over two cooking vats in which George Patton, farmer, said in a statement he boiled the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Talks Incessantly Shreveport, La., March 17 (AP)—Physicians attempted today to diagnose the case of Ruby Poole, 16, who has talked incessantly for more than a week.

Ruby, daughter of J. H. Poole, an oil worker of Haynesville, La., was brought to the hospital here last Wednesday when she developed the "talking spell" after an attack of influenza. The girl seems quite rational and has discussed many subjects intelligently, displaying an imposing vocabulary.

Ruby has a high rating in her school work, is a member of a national honor society of the Haynesville High School and is editor of the school paper.

Our Growing Population

The following births have been reported to the Board of Health:

Mr. and Mrs. David Scheffel of Rubr, a son, William Arthur, at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Doherty of 13 Murphy street, a daughter, Juanita Rose.

Roosevelt Anniversary.

Washington, March 17 (AP)—Thirty-one years ago today Anna Eleanor Roosevelt—niece of the colorful Teddy, who then sat in the president's chair—married Franklin D. Roosevelt, law student. Today, in the executive mansion where she was often a favored visitor back in 1905, Mrs. Roosevelt is celebrating the anniversary with the law student who also became chief executive of the United States.

Pet Pony Rescued

Crooksville, O., March 17 (AP)—Guy Brown and his three husky sons rescued "Fannie," their pet pony, today from the family mine in Louis Hollow. Fannie, trapped 13 days ago in a cave-in, emerged sleepily but apparently none the worse for her experience after the four men had spent the night digging a tunnel through 20 feet of coal.

Safety of Nine Persons Credited to a Pilot

Cleveland, Ohio, March 17 (AP)—The safety of nine airplane passengers, including one woman, was credited today to clever work by a transport pilot who brought his twin-motored ship down safely in a corn field after a heavy snowstorm prevented a landing at Cleveland airport.

Maurice Marrs, piloting a Chicago-to-Newark plane of the United Air Lines, used emergency flares to land last night 60 miles west of here. The plane came to rest on high ground, near some trees, with only slight damage to the ship.

DIED IN THE PLACE OF ANOTHER

Coming as a dramatic highlight of the recent Japanese militarist uprising, Col. Danzo Matsuo (left) allowed himself to be shot to death by rebel soldiers while his brother-in-law, Admiral Keisuke Okada (right), escaped. Okada was premier of the Japanese, but resigned his position soon after the rebellion was quelled. (Associated Press Photo)

Fire loss is rising, after a period of years in which it was slowly but steadily declining. That fact should be taken as a personal challenge by every citizen, and give us the impetus we need to eliminate hazards on our property, cooperate with fire prevention bodies, and thus do our part to rid the nation of the dread menace of "The Fifth Horseman".

Mdivani Funeral Wednesday at Resort

Palm Beach, Fla., March 17 (AP)—Palm Beach society tomorrow will attend the funeral of Prince Serge Mdivani, who died playing polo, a game he loved.

Dr. William E. Biederwolf, pastor of the Royal Poinciana Chapel, who married Mdivani and Louise Van Alen, will conduct funeral services in the presence of members of the Van Alen family and invited friends.

Later the body will be sent to Newport for burial in the Van Alen plot. It was understood burial would await the arrival from Europe of members of Mdivani's family.

Most of those who will attend the services watched the 33-year-old Georgian meet his death in a polo game near Delray Beach Sunday. Kicked in the head by his rearing mount, Mdivani lived only a few minutes.

His death ended the widow's second marriage to a member of the "merry-go-round" family. Her first, to the late Prince Alexis, terminated in a divorce at the Hague in 1932. Alexis was killed in an automobile accident in Spain last year.

Card Party
There will be a card party at the Comforter hall Friday night, under auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. The public is invited.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The eminent Chinese detective, Charlie Chan, is the person of Warner Oland, a Swede, who set out to see China for the first time.

As Chan, in pictures, Oland has been to Shanghai. For that matter he has well nigh covered the earth on film. Any country or capital he has not so visited will be accounted for in the future, for the Chan film series shows no signs of losing popularity. "Charlie Chan on Mars" is not such a remote possibility as it may seem now.

Before he sailed with Mrs. Oland for the Orient, the Swedish actor had some additional light on the precise relationship between Warner Oland, the Scandinavian, and Charlie Chan, the Oriental.

Asked how he can appear convincingly Chinese on the screen without the aid of make-up, he said:

"It may sound ridiculous, but I've decided it may be because I've played the part so often. I have noticed that Chinese and Japanese children reared in this country lose much of their Oriental appearance. So, it is possible the thing works the other way, too."

No Chinese Blood

"I discredited," he chuckled, "the guess Rob Wagner once made in his magazine that at some time in centuries past some of my Scandinavian ancestors must have sailed too far east. But I do not deny that I may show, to an extent, Chinese characteristics."

Well read in many fields, Oland has been spurred by Charlie Chan roles in the last several years to cover considerable ground in Chinese philosophy. Keyes Luke, Chan's eldest son in recent films, and Frank Tang, one of the Chan sons in several pictures, frequently bring books on the subject to his attention.

Oland has been on stage and screen too long to be suspected of an "act" where his Chan roles are concerned, and he is sincere in his preparations for the role. While a Chan film is in the making, Oland foregoes social life and even in the interest of greater concentration brings lunch from his home and eats in seclusion of his dressing room.

Concentrates On Roles

"Sincerity should not be condemned," Oland said, "and I find I actually can almost be Charlie Chan when I give myself the chance to concentrate."

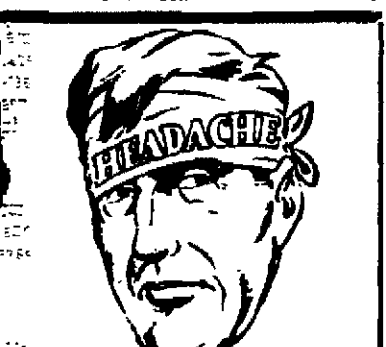

Chan is a very real person to his screen creator, "Charlie Chan at the Circus" is the eighth of the series which began in 1931. Oland and Chan have "lived together" considerably.

Oland sizes up Charlie Chan as an unusually intelligent, understanding person, aware of the weaknesses of the human race and slow to condemn it, tempering his outlook with his acquired American viewpoint—sincere, courageous, he adds, "quite a family man."

Broadway: "Wife Versus Secretary". A trio of M-G-M's best box office stars go through the paces of the eternal triangle in this latest sophisticated drama of a wife trying to hold her husband against the onslaught of a beautiful office secretary. With Clark Gable playing the husband, Myrna Loy the wife, and Jean Harlow the young working girl, this picture runs the gamut of domestic bliss and uncertainty with Miss Harlow running off with most of the acting honors. This show will appeal to the grownups and its smooth direction, lavish settings and realistic dialogue all tend to make the picture a first rate entertainment feature. Selected short offerings complete the program.

Kingsford: "My Marriage" and "Man Hunt". Two blistering crime dramas are to be seen on the Kingsford screen, the first a story of high society versus the underworld and the action is startling, confusing and rapid. During the course of events, there are several murders, much suspicion and a few moments of comedy and romance. The cast includes Claire Trevor, Paul Kelly, Kent Taylor, Helen Wood and Thomas Beck, who race madly about in the main assignments. "Man Hunt" is exciting melodrama of a small town reporter, a school teacher and an old man who jointly track down a gangster after much excitement. Ricardo Cortez, Marguerite Churchill, William Gargan and Chic Sale are featured.

Orpheum: "The Farmer Takes a Wife". Life in the early days of the Erie Canal is told with enjoyable simplicity and realism in the main feature at the Orpheum. The quarrels and troubles of the tug owners form the background for a romance between a girl and a farm boy who hates the Erie and dreams of the day when he can have a farm of his own. Janet Gaynor, Henry Fonda, Charles Bickford, Jane Withers and Andy Devine are featured.

Broadway: "Seven Keys to Baldpate". The famous story that made Earl Derr Biggers famous as a novelist is again transcribed to the screen with telling results in this RKO mystery thriller that possesses all the tested ingredients of a box office attraction. It moves swiftly, its action is well sustained, the cast is a handsome assortment of capable players and the story holds interest as it tells of a lonely inn where seven people go for separate purposes, all possessing keys to the ancient establishment. The cast offers Gene Raymond, Erin O'Brien-Moore, Margaret Callahan, Moroni Olsen and Grant Mitchell. Good entertainment.

Kingsford: "Escape from Devil's Island" and "Thunderbolt". The story of two men, a woman, and the slime and hardship of the penal colony on Devil's Island is told in the opening film at the Kingsford, a gusty tale of human frailty, brutality and misunderstanding. The cast is headed by Victor Jory. "Thunderbolt" is the other feature, a story that centers around the activities of a dog, played by Lobi, latest of the screen's wonder pets.

FLASHES OF LIFE SKETCHED IN BRIEF

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Start: Realism

Milwaukee—Amateur actors, Robert Nelson, 14, Kenneth Benson, 15, and Robert Schneider, 14, jumped around the stage and yelled exactly as the script called for but they weren't acting.

In the play they were supposed to drink a mysterious potion that would give them the characteristics of jumping beans. Somebody switched the props. Instead of the scheduled colored water they each took a swig of liniment.

Fair and Warmer

Ruston, La.—Mary Lou Porter and Josephine Curcio, co-eds at Louisiana Tech, turned on a heater to dry their hair, with exactly opposite results.

Friend—You'll soon forget her and be happy again.

Jilted Suitor Oh, no, I shan't. I've bought too much for her on the installment plan!

Events Around The Empire State

Ithaca, N. Y., March 17 (AP).—Frank W. Trevor, Cornell University senior, appealed today for rats and mice for Josephine to eat. Josephine is an Imperial boa constrictor, obtained from Panama for research purposes. Trevor said she was supposed to grow a foot a year until she reaches at least 12 feet, but cannot do so with her present diet of hamburger and chicken.

Stamford, N. Y., March 17 (AP).—Three dairy organizations failed today in an attempt to end fixing of milk prices under the state control law. Supreme Court Justice Andrew J. McNaught denied their petitions to restrain the State Agriculture Department and dismissed their complaints on the ground of insufficient evidence. Injunctions against State Agriculture Commissioner Peter G. Ten Eyke were sought by the Co-operative Dairyman of Fraser, Inc., of Delaware county; the Montgomery Eastern Dairy Cooperative, of Montgomery county, and the Jetter Dairy Company, Inc., of Madison county.

Elmira, N. Y., March 17 (AP).—Rivers in the southern tier rose nearly to their banks again today, after having subsided from last week's flood conditions. The Chemung, Chenango and Susquehanna rivers climbed during the night, but officials doubted that they would reach the high stages of several days ago. Some roads in the vicinity of Whitney Point were under water.

Hamilton, N. Y., March 17 (AP).—Student delegates to the model Republican national convention at Colgate University chose Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas and Representative James W. Wadsworth of New York as their favorites to head the national G. O. P. ticket. Landon was selected on the third ballot last night.

Oneida, N. Y., March 17 (AP).—Alexander D. Downing, 71, fifth generation descendant of Chief Skandash, Oneida Indian chief, died yesterday. Downing was chief of the Turtle clan for 58 years.

THE ONE WHICH "WORKS"

Home Institute HIDDEN TRUTHS IN DREAMS

WHAT IS MEANING OF CAT IN DREAMS?

Amazing nonsense, some of these dreams that come to us in sleep! We tell them for fun the next day. But are they nonsense?

Psychologists don't think so. They study dreams as carefully as did the interpreters and soothsayers of old—but in what a very different way!

Suppose that you, like the woman in the sketch, had dreamed of a huge, friendly, pussy cat with an amazing set of teeth. "Now was that cat a warning of danger?" you might ask the next day. "I wasn't afraid in my dream."

A psychologist, impressed by the "toothiness" of the cat, would learn from questioning you that you were worrying over a visit to the dentist. Your front teeth might need a gold inlay. It would make you look older.

So that's what the cat dream meant—just a wish for a perfect set of teeth, and for youth and vigor.

What anything in a dream means depends on your own history and mental images. If you think of a cat as treacherous, then to dream of a cat might mean that you feared treachery. If you think of a cat as soft and lazy, then your dream might refer to a person of that type. Or if the cat is a playful, silly kitten, then your dream reveals a secret opinion that you, or someone else, does too much playing, too little serious work.

In dreams your mind thinks in images, as a poet writes. A tree in a dream may stand for sturdiness; an inkspot for disgrace; music for self-esteem.

Some people worry needlessly about dreams. Some don't worry enough. Dreams may warn us of hidden dangers which we would do well to bring to the light of day and banish from our thoughts.

Learn the facts about this fascinating subject, the findings of science, not the folderol of superstition. Get our 40-page illustrated Home Institute booklet, Interpreting Your Dreams, and find out for yourself. Interestingly told in every-day language. Typical dreams analyzed. Historical dreams explained.

The A B C of Crochet

Crochet is an art centuries old. Yet today it is one of the few creative arts which no machine can accurately reproduce. It affords you countless chances for individuality; for smartness, and for economy. Any reader wishing complete copies of these 12 articles can get them by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to The Freeman Crochet Bureau, 522 Fifth Avenue, N. Y. Specify "The A B C of Crochet."

Siana Merwin

Touche of bright color on gray or dark toned fabrics is a noted detail of the new season styles, being featured throughout the spring showings of suits, ensembles, frocks and even in the more dressy modes for dinner or evening.

Bright reds, greens and peach or orange tones are used in solids as a trimming color, while Roman stripes or prints of vivid coloring also provide the necessary contrast in many of the smartest models.

The sketch above pictures one of the latest daytime jacket-frocks. This interesting design in a pleasing sult effect makes an unusually charming, effective costume for dressy afternoon occasions.

The Roman striped silk taffeta blouse top is attached for comfort to the skirt of navy blue sheer for the one-piece frock. Its neckline is ruffled to soften the severity of the stripes and the short sleeves display puffed fullness for shoulder width, which is also an important detail of the newest fashions.

A tiny "mess jacket" of navy sheer tops the dress and matches the skirt. It features full, push-up sleeves that can be worn up or down, as desired.

PATTERN 5549

We'll say they're fun to do! And you will, too, when you've decided whether you'll embroider a pillow-top or picture with these wistful puppies. Just a bit of simple cross stitch makes them yours (crosses are 6-8 the-inch) and the design's so simple a little school miss could do it.

Embroider them in soft shades of tans and greys with a touch of brown and black, if you'd be rewarded with life-like portraits. And do catch the "bright-eyed" expression—black flecks for the eyes, does it!

In pattern 5549 you will find a transfer pattern of these dogs 12 x 12 1/2 inches; a color chart and key; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches needed.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

Milton Dancing

Milton, March 16—The Young People's dancing class with an enrollment of 55, sponsored by the Milton Grange and which has been held in the Grange hall, closed Tuesday evening with a very enjoyable party. Robert Dean of Highland, who has so ably played the piano through the series of five lessons, was assisted at the closing by William Sears of Milton at the drum, Perry Berago of New Paltz, saxophone, and Roselot DuBois of Highland, violin. After an hour of informal dancing Miss Betty Young of the Highland High School faculty, who has been giving the instruction in ball room dancing, conducted a number of special dances for which prizes were awarded. The first balloon dance was won by Floyd Rhodes and Lila Barnes. An elimination dance followed in which Thomas Bailey and Lila Wood received awards. David Bell, Grace Wilke, Leonard Clarke and Maude Lawton received honorable mention. The object of the elimination dance was to determine which couple executed the dance steps taught in the best manner. The winners were decided by popular applause. Judges were Roger Merritt of Highland, Mrs. Percy Bunker and Mrs. Glenn Clarke of Milton. A Leap Year cut-in dance proved a favorite and the Paul Jones a very jolly finish for the evening program. The young people expressed their appreciation with cheers for the committee and a farewell song to Miss Young. Refreshments were served by the committee, assisted by some of the mothers of the young people. The committee members were Mrs. Elsie Hallock, chairman, Miss Eleanor Young, Mrs. Birdsell S. Taber, Mrs. E. M. Wood, Mrs. Glenn Clarke, Mrs. Oliver P. Kent and Fred H. Bond.

Ulster

Ulster Grange, No. 969, of Ulster Park, will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday evening, March 18, at 8 o'clock at its rooms in the Ulster Park Community Hall. Worthy Master J. Hudson Cole will preside.

Lecturer Theodor Oxholm will have charge of the literary hour, and refreshments will be served.

Worthy Deputy J. Wells Weaver will make his official visit at this time and the master hopes for a good attendance to greet Brother Weaver.

Cars not having the right of way caused 15 per cent of auto accidents last year. Their drivers saved a second or two—at the expense of life and health.

"ZYZZLE"

JUST suppose you wanted to find the word zyzzle in the dictionary. Would you start at the first page, leaf through the entire book and come finally to the last word, on the last page? That, you say, would be an insane waste of time.

Now, suppose you need accessories for housecleaning. Suppose you need soap, or floor-wax, or a pail and mop. Many stores are featuring real bargains in household needs for spring. Yet you waste time and effort, if you walk from store to store... wander from counter to counter looking for what you want at the price you want to pay.

Instead, you may sit comfortably at home and learn where and when to make the best buys. That's all printed for you in the advertisements of this paper. You have only to read them and heed them to save time, save tiresome shopping, and save money.

Life-Saving Class
Formed at Y. M. C. A.

The first session of the newly formed Life-saving and Swimming class now being conducted at the Y.
M. C. A. was held at the "Y" on Monday afternoon. Eight attended this first session, these being Clarence Becker, Bill Murray, Ray Van Buren, Bob Van Valkenburgh,
Ralph Miller, Phil Gillen, Johnny
Caprotti and Kenneth Donnelly.
Donnelly is an aide hired to assist the instructor, Charles A. Henke, by the National Youth Administration.
"Chuck" Henke, physical director of the "Y," is the instructor of the class. Henke is an American Red Cross Examiner and is well qualified for the position of instructor. He is a former swimming coach and assistant physical director at the Wilmington, Delaware, Y. M. C. A. and has served as aquatic director in camps in Maine and New York state.
While at Wilmington, Henke coached the team that won the Middle Atlantic States Y. M. C. A. Championship in swimming.

The object of the class is to improve swimming technique and to prepare for the American Red Cross Life-Saving tests. In yesterday's session, those attending practiced to fulfill the requirements for the life-saving class. Classes are held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons, from four until five o'clock. Anyone wishing to enter the class can still do so by signing up with "Chuck" Henke at the "Y" any day before Friday which will be the deadline for those intending to enter the class.

The Kings' Road
Wherever you live, you are certain to have heard of that famous thoroughfare in London called Rotten Row, says Pearson's London Weekly, and most likely you've wondered why it has such a funny name. Kings have used that thoroughfare for hundreds of years, since the old days when it led from the palace at Westminster towards the Royal hunting forests. Because it was the road used by king it was known as the Route du Roi (French for "the road of the King")— and Rotten Row is just a corruption of that name.

"But surely," Puffy stutters, "you come from the EARTH!"
"I do," says the woman. "A Texan,

An acrobat I, and my friends call me Alice.
Now, QUICK, my plump friend—
let's get out of this palace!"

FIRST IT'S COLD...

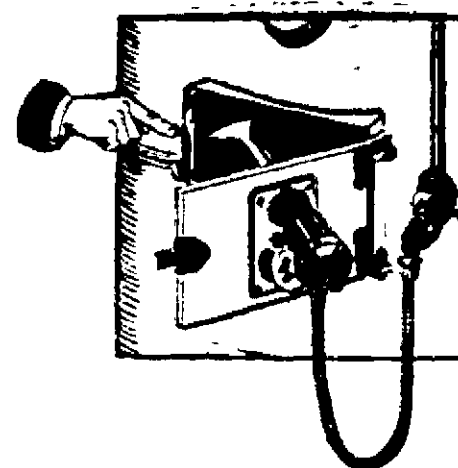

THEN IT'S WARM...

Then it's COLD AGAIN!

THAT'S the troublesome thing about keeping a house comfortable during changeable Spring weather. But there is a way to keep your home comfortable this season without repeated fire-building—at low cost too.

The new Firedor gas heating burner is designed especially for Spring and Fall heating. It can be fitted to any furnace, without any changes in the furnace itself. It turns on and off instantly as needed.
The gas it uses will cost no more than other fuels, since none of it is wasted in over-heating.

You may try the Firedor burner in your own furnace for an entire season, with no investment in equipment. Ask your heating contractor or the nearest Central Hudson office for details of this trial plan.

The Firedor burner may be installed in a few hours in any furnace. No change in the furnace is needed except to lift off the staking door. The Firedor may be removed for return to other fuels in a few minutes.

Port Ewen M. E. Again Wins Crown In the Church Basketball League

The Port Ewen M. E. basketball team decisively settled the question as to who is it in the Church Basketball League and clinched their title to the championship when they defeated the Clinton Avenue M. E. team Monday night in the games at the Y. Port Ewen won 20 to 12 in what is said to have been the hardest fought game of the year. Port Ewen was the defending champion and defeated the Clinton Avenue in a playoff for the first half championship. They have a record of 11 consecutive victories. The Presbyterian team trimmed the Comforters Monday night, 31-24, in a closely contested game. In the final Trinity M. E. suffered its 11th straight defeat, thereby pushing the victors, the First Dutch, one notch ahead of the cellar position.

Led by Al Short and Bing Van Etten, who scored 18 of the 20 points, Port Ewen managed to defeat the Clinton Avenue in a stormy season, marked by rough play. Both teams played at a hard clip throughout the game and Referee Crawford called a total of 30 personal fouls. Clinton Avenue held Port Ewen in check the first half, trailing by 16 to 9, but were unable to find the basket after the recess. Every and Myers each scored four points for the losers.

In the opening game the Presbyterians once again got back on to the winning road, defeating the Comforters 31 to 23. The score was close throughout, the Presbyterians leading 13-12 at the recess. A spurt in the last quarter clinched the game for the Presbyterians. Thomas, Blackwell and Smith were high for the winners, while Andy Dykes scored eight points for the Comforters.

"KING KONG" KLEIN

The First Dutch basketball team managed to score a 23-19 victory over the Clinton Avenue team, to move out of the cellar. Led by Chuck Henke the winners scored the deciding baskets in the last quarter. Henke scored 11 points for the First Dutch, while Bill Locke sank six points for the Trinity Five.

Eddie Coughlin, backer of the Kendall Oil team, and the promoter of the game between that club and the New York University players at the Auditorium, Friday night, March 20, this morning said he could promise the absolute appearance of "King Kong" Klein and other stars of the Violet varsity.

"There are no strings attached to bringing N. Y. U. basketball players to the Auditorium. I have been assured that all of the toppers whose names appear on advertisements will be at the court to play against the Kendalls."

Coughlin, a basketball enthusiast and promoter of semi-professional games for several years past, is bringing the N. Y. U. toppers to Kingston to satisfy the yearning of local cage fans for the type of ball played in the colleges and which is making such a decided hit in New York and other leading sports centers.

A number of reserved seats have been ordered already at the American Legion building. The first four were sold to Frank Shimek, ex-collegiate player and now a member of the Cities Service club in the American League.

Diamond Stars Drop From 'Bama Into Big League Baseball Show

Tuscaloosa, Ala. (AP)—With five members already in professional baseball—and more to follow their footsteps—the 1932 freshman of the University of Alabama promises to equal, in major league talent, the 1920 outfit that included Joe and Mike Sewell, Ike Boone, Riggs Stephenson and Lena Stiles.

Two members of that 1932 yearling team, still playing here, plan to make their bow in organized baseball this year.

Howell With Tigers Millard (Dixie) Howell, also a football great, is trying for the third-base job with the world champion Detroit Tigers. Howell, farmed out to Birmingham and Houston after an injury last year, looks like a fine prospect.

Lee Rogers, a southpaw signed by the Boston Red Sox last year, was farmed to Little Rock, where he showed Southern Association sluggers why college hitters found his delivery so puzzling. His 1935 record of seven wins and two losses earned him another chance with the Red Sox.

A third member of the aggregation, Leland Scott, is rated by his owners, the Birmingham Barons, as a likely major-leaguer. Originally a pitcher, he was converted into an outfielder last year and he paced the Southern Association batsmen through a good part of the season.

Shortstop Bill Crittendon was a tryout with the New York Yankees and is still the property of that club. His activities, however, are confined to play with junior members of the Yankee setup.

Hutson Shows Speed Don Hutson, receiving end of the famous Powell-Hutson pass combination in football and now a star with Green Bay's professional football Packers, was singled out for a trial with the Knoxville Smokies of the Southern Association. His tremendous speed marks him as a likely prospect.

Two others, Jim Wastley and Hillman Walker who entered at mid-year in 1932, are eligible for the 1936 campaign in college competition here. Both are expected to accept offers from organized clubs at the end of the college season. They played on the football team with Hutson and Howell when Alabama stunned Stanford with a 29-13 defeat in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day, 1935.

All from an Alabama team that started together as a fresh outfit in 1932. These three players are making their marks in professional baseball. Dixie Howell (right) is the property of the Detroit Tigers; Southpaw Pitcher Lee Rogers (left, below) belongs to the Boston Red Sox, and Don Hutson (above) is with Knoxville.

Alabama long has been a favorite hunting ground for baseball scouts. Besides the two Sewells, Stephenson, Stiles and Ike Boone, Bama sent up Derrill Pratt, Dan Boone, Minter Hayes, Ernie Winard, Freddie Stinson, Dave Rosenfield and others.

Roamers Lose to the Tigers in Rough Game The basketball game between the Tigers and the Roamers, played at Holy Cross hall Monday night, is reported to have been rough—in fact the last quarter is even said to have been very rough. The Roamers took the first half 14 to 9, but couldn't keep up the pace and the Tigers were ahead 25 to 19 when the final whistle blew.

Chipp led the Roamers with 10 points. The Tigers scoring was general. S. Woods, with 3 fields, being high man for his team. They scored but once from the foul line, as against seven penalty shots caged by the Roamers.

Softball Meetings to be Held At the Auditorium Next Week

The first move to start activities in softball will be a meeting in one of the rooms at the Municipal Auditorium next week, on a date to be announced later.

Ben Short of the Central Hudson, president of the City Softball League last year, talked with a sports reporter this morning and said he was vitally interested in getting an early start for the coming season.

Short has contacted Mayor Conrad J. Heislman, who he said, has promised to take action regarding parks for the game.

Short's suggestion is that there be two leagues. One he would call the Industrial League. This would be made up of teams from factories and commercial houses. The other would be the City League. In this there would be teams from various fraternal organizations and clubs.

At next week's meeting Short will explain his plans to softball enthusiasts, and others interested in the sport, including Earl Shufelt, who headed the Junior Softball League last summer, will speak also.

If Short's plan for two leagues meets with approval and is adopted, the champions of each league will engage in a playoff for the city pennant. It is presumed.

"There seems to be lots of interest in softball for next summer," said Short when he talked with the sports writer. "Last year the pastime was very popular, and I think this year it will be even more so, because I've heard more people say they intend to take part in the games, which form a good kind of exercise and fun as well."

According to the past president of the city circuit, Mayor Heislman is very anxious to see softball have a booming season and intends to put forth extra effort to have diamonds in the several city parks put aside at fixed dates every week for the league games. The Board of Public Works itself had a team or two last summer, and the mayor himself engaged in the sport with the municipal employees.

At the annual meeting of the high school basketball team, called at the close of each season to elect their captain for the coming season, Eddie Bahl was unanimously chosen Monday by his teammates to be at the helm for 1936-1937. Eddie has already earned two varsity letters in basketball and should prove to be a very capable man in filling this position.

To be eligible for the position of captain one must be either a junior or senior for the coming season and have already earned a varsity letter in that sport. The only possible candidates included Al Bruce, Charlie Beck, Tommy Maites and Ed Bahl. Out of the 15 votes cast Eddie had 11. Charlie Beck receiving the remaining four.

With Tommy Maites looking forward to be football captain and Beck wanting the basketball captaincy when he is a senior, they had the majority of votes thrown Bahl's way with the expectation that he will play the brand of ball of which he is capable now that he holds a responsible position.

More Than $1,000,000 Worth of Blue Bloods Training at Longwood

By EDDIE BRIETZ, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Longwood, Fla., March 17 (AP)—Here in America's winter trotting horse capital, more than 100 blue bloods of the harness racing world are training for the approaching grand circuit campaign. It would take more than $1,000,000 to buy the lot of trotters and pacers at wholesale...among them is Rosalind, red hot favorite to win the rich Hambletonian stakes.

Rosalind is owned by Gibson White, 20-year-old son of Ben White, famous Lexington, Ky. trainer. Ben trains Rosalind but sometimes has to take orders from his son. The White stable of 42 horses is the largest here. It includes the strings of W. N. Reynolds, Winston Salem, N. C. tobacco millionaire and his nephew, R. J. Reynolds, Jr. Between them they own 30 of White's charges.

All the Reynolds horses wear blankets advertising the fact that they'd walk a mile for that cigarette. On occasions, Mr. White can't help but wish some of them would try trotting for a change.

Seminole Park where the harness stars tune up is 16 miles from Orlando. Originally it was built for a running horse track, but was abandoned. W. N. Reynolds bought it and turned it over to his fellow horsemen.

Although pushing 70, Reynolds works his own horses daily. Yesterday he drove Bill Strawn, one of his four Hambletonian candidates, in four mile-heats and warmed up other colts between heats. His other Hambletonian hopes are Decision, Rosette and Ed Lasater. Most of the older Reynolds' horses are named after old Winston Salem friends. Young Dick is naming his after the brands of tobacco his firm manufactures.

Seth Pallen, who drove Greyhound to victory in the Hambletonian last year, is here with a string of 23. His horses occupy one entire barn, with Greyhound in the No. 1 stall. This year Pallen will try to cop the Hambletonian with either the Master or Voltra. Pallen is among the trainers who think Rosalind has the best chance.

Odde and ends: Greyhound takes a nap every afternoon. Ben White stables to his horses as he drives them around the track. Mrs. James Murray, who some day will own the Brooklyn Dodgers, is a trotting horse enthusiast and is at the track daily. She helps train the white string, just for the fun of it. Another woman driver is Mrs. Martin Snyder, of Plainfield, N. J., who helps work her father's horses. Most of the stable will leave for the north about April 25.

Haynes Makes Carnera Give Up in the Third

By SID FEDER, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Philadelphia, March 17 (AP)—The comeback bubble that Primo Carnera was inflating toward title-challenging Steve is shattered.

Leroy Haynes, a brawny battler from the Pacific coast, with experience in either hand and particularly the right—broke the former heavyweight champion's return effort in three battering rounds last night before 16,000 fans.

He jolted Primo with two crashing right hooks in the first frame, and then landed a third in the second, and then finished him in the third when the ponderous opponent was unable to take any more of the beating he was getting. He turned his back and quit in his own corner.

Referee Matt Adie raised the Los Angeles astro's hand in token of one of the year's surprising victories at 14 seconds of the third.

Haynes' triumph was more convincing than that although he weighed only 157 1/2 to Carnera's 265, he stopped the Italian in half the number of rounds it took Joe Louis, and he slightly more than a quarter of the time it took Max Baer.

His top-heavy victory started talk that Madison Square Garden may soon be in the spot for which it was building Carnera. The word in fight circles was that the defeat meant the end of bringing Carnera back to the status of
